Two Hour Seminar

A SEWER'S PERSPECTIVE:

INSTRUCTIONAL TOUR OF THE JURIED FASHION SHOW

An interactive exploration behind the “seams” of the garments from the Fashion Show. You saw them on the runway, now see them up close and inside. Participants will experience a technical critique of garments on display, seeing the inside finishing techniques as well as the outside appearance, and fit. This kind of experience provides the participants with many ideas for finishing, what works and what doesn't. A terrific “ behind the seams” look allowing participants to view first hand, some of the choices used by experienced fiber artists.

One of the highlights of Convergence Cincinnati 1999 and Vancouver 2001, this seminar presents a rare opportunity to see inside hand-woven garments on exhibition. Participants experience the ultimate show and tell. My goal is to have participants look at the finishing techniques on their own work and assess the appropriateness, and level of innovation and creativity. Sometimes the simplest of garments and finishing details can be the most effective. Sometimes the details make the piece.
